

Summary

Subject matter: Communicative organization of French spontaneous utterances

Author: Ambarsumova Ketevan

Supervisor of studies: Candidate of Philological Sciences, professor of the chair of French philology and intercultural communication

Information about customer organization: Chair of french philology and the intercultural communications, PSU

Topicality of the research: the relevance lies in the communicative approach to the analysis of this type of statements the modern French language.

Objectives of the research: this qualification work consists in a comprehensive analysis of the main communicative features of French spontaneous speech.

Tasks of the research:

1. on the basis of studying of theoretical material on the topic, to define the concept of French spontaneous speech;
2. to determine the role of basic unit of the French spontaneous speech in the formation of utterance;
3. to identify the main components of the communicative structure of a spontaneous utterance
4. to identify and analyse the functions of components of the French spontaneous utterance from the communicative point of view;

Theoretical and practical significance significance of the study the present study is that it presents a comprehensive analysis of the French spontaneous utterance as the main unit of the French spontaneous conversational speech. The practical part of this work is that its materials can be used for teaching the French language, as well as for drawing the theoretical courses on stylistics and grammar of the French language.

Results of the research: there have been worked out syntactic means of semantic allocation can be applied for logical allocation

Recommendations: the results of the research can be recommended to translators and interpreters, to professors of French linguistics working at different types of educational and linguistic programmes.