

Industry lexis of the hospitality

(in English language)

Graduation Qualifying Thesis from:

Pyatigorsk State University

Institute of International Service, Tourism and Foreign Languages

Faculty of the English and Romance Languages

Chair of the Experimental Linguistics and Cross-cultural Competence

Author: Teresheva Diana Aslanovna

Main parts: Contents, Introduction, two Chapters, Conclusion, Bibliography.

Keywords: English vocabulary, hospitality, means of word – formation.

Abstract: The research work is dedicated to the study of industry lexis of the hospitality and means of their word – formation.

The subject of the research work is structural - morphological lexemes parameters in the industry of the hospitality in English.

The aim of this work is defining features of the organization of the study of vocabulary in the English language, the study of structural and morphological characteristics and means of formation of industry lexis of the hospitality.

The main objectives of this research are:

- to study general linguistic and technical literature on the subject of research;
- carry out a sample of lexical units of industry lexis of the hospitality in English on the basis of a solid view of literature and lexicographical sources;
- the selection of the most effective means and models of word-forming composition of the English lexemes;
- consideration of structural features of the lexemes of hospitality;
- analysis of word formation and allocation of means such a specific lexeme to the industry of hospitality;
- the selection of the most productive patterns of word formation.

The theoretical and practical significance of the work lies in the in the description of the theoretical foundations of multidimensional research of the industry lexis of the hospitality in English language in terms of their formal devices and semantics, and the possibility of using the materials of the research in the development of courses on lexicology. In the introduction we justify the importance of the research, state the object, the purpose of the study, reveal methodological framework, and practical value of our research.

In the first chapter, we consider some theoretical questions connected with the industry of the hospitality and the development of this industry in the course of time.

In the second chapter we turn to study the most productive means of word – formation.

In conclusion we summarize the main results of our research.

Bibliographic list consists of 31 titles in English and Russian languages. The total amount of qualifying work done is 51 pages.