The relevance of the research topic: involves a set of interrelated theoretical questions, each of which needs careful consideration, as well as insufficient development of issues relating to the component composition of idioms, cases of its variance, and linguistic and cultural features of phraseological units.

Purpose of the work: to describe and to study in detail phraseological units, and also to approve the anthropocentric approach as the basic in the phraseology analysis.

Tasks: 1) to consider existing approaches in linguistics to a problem of value and to reveal distinctions between the value of phraseological units a connotation of phraseological units; 3) to consider linguo-culturology as a modern basis of an anthropocentric approach to phraseology analysis; 4) to reveal phraseological units with the taxon "woman" in the modern Russian language; 5) to systematize the phraseological units of the studied groups according to their semantic, stylistic, and motivational signs.

The theoretical and practical importance of this work is that the results of the study of phraseological units with the taxon "woman" broaden and deepen the knowledge about the structural, semantic, and stylistic properties of phraseological units of this group, establish a connection between structural, semantic, and functional peculiarities of phraseological units. The research can be applied in the preparation of manuals and handbooks on problems of phraseology, as well as in the educational process.

Results of the study: the topic as a whole isn't new to linguistics. During research the idea that phraseological units and words have various structure of value was confirmed. The structure of semantics of phraseological units consists of denotative and connotative aspects. The last is dominating and includes emotive, estimated, motivational, figurative, and stylistic macrocomponents.
