Research Initiator: Pyatigorsk State University

The relevance of the topic of the study is due to the fact that the global social networks - it is dynamically developing sphere of communication and this is reflected in the continuous updating of tools and ways of verbalizing the attitude of communication participants to Internet communication, reconstruction of its value characteristics through linguistic phenomena, the formation of new options for language interaction and specific forms of personal representation.

The goal of this graduation thesis is a comprehensive description and analysis of the linguistic features of Internet communication, the identification of specific forms and ways of communication, classification of text memes in Internet communication on the expanses of global social networks.

Tasks:

1. to give a scientific and theoretical description of Internet communication as a special type of communication;
2. to pay special attention to Internet communication as a new communicative media environment;
3. to describe the types of modern global social networks and identify their features in comparison with other genres of media space;
4. to describe the linguistic parameters of communication in global social networks from colloquial vocabulary to the creation of new types of signs;

The theoretical significance of the graduate qualification work lies in the fact that the study contributes to the study of the specifics of Internet communication in global social networks as a modern media tool. describes those means of verbalization of personal attitudes, which are inherent to virtually mediated communication.

The practical significance of the research lies in the fact that the main provisions of the work are acceptable for use in the teaching of English lexicology, general linguistics and practical English course; reading special courses on discourse, semiotics of the Internet and related topics.

Results: The analysis of 650 messages from the global social networks Facebook, Twitter, MySpace, Yahoo, Bebo, Tagworld, Instagram, including 200 statuses 200 units of computer slang and 250 comments revealed a number of linguistic features of Internet communication. Communication in the Internet environment is a vivid example of the unity of real topics for communication and virtual opportunities. The most striking aspects of Internet communication were identified - these are slang units and onomatopoeia, a passion for all kinds of abbreviations: acronyms and acronyms and connotations. As the analysis of slang forms of communication in the Internet-mediated environment shows, the concentration of slang expressions is high, which is explained by the computer-game form of communication, which increases interest in common topics and provides the most productive communication.

Recommendations for the implementation of practical results of the study: the results of the study are formalized in the form of an educational database product "Internet statuses for all occasions". The research and the product created within the framework of this work can be used by teachers of general education schools and institutions of higher education, at seminars on the theory of text and discourse, as well as intercultural communication.
