

Summury

The subject of this final qualifying work is: business continuity and the disaster recovery (the organization "Dialogue" is given below as an example).

The author of the final qualifying work is Zdvishkova Ulyana Michailovna.

The supervisor is Ochakov Artur Kokayevich.

The information about the organization: the organization "Dialogue" functions in the organizational legal form of a limited liability company. It deals with the preparation and sending of electronic reporting to state agencies and selling plane tickets and train tickets electronically.

Background research: in the context of dynamic growth and continuous development, the given problem is the most acute, as the activities of most organizations depend on computer technology and automated systems largely nowadays.

Objective: to develop optimal solutions for business continuity and disaster recovery in the organization of "Dialogue".

Problems: to study special features of business continuity and disaster recovery in the organizations thoroughly; to analyse the existing measures and the ways to ensure business continuity and disaster recovery in the organization; to develop the proposals for the improvement of existing business continuity and disaster recovery.

The theoretical significance depends on a detailed investigation of the problem how to ensure business continuity. Also the proposed solutions of the problem have been selected from the special literature.

The practical significance of the given final qualifying work is characterized by the possible application of the proposed measures to improve the methods of ensuring business continuity and disaster recovery for the organization «Dialogue" and for other similar organizations.

Results: in the given final qualification work the system of ensuring of business continuity and disaster recovery in the organization "Dialogue" has been studied as well as the recommendations for the improvement of business continuity and disaster recovery have been provided.

Recommendations: connecting an additional (backup) link with the "Beeline". Acquisition of uninterruptible power supplies, voltage stabilizers, file server backup system Symantec Backup, Using Regulations for personnel in emergency situations at faults or lack of power, development of an effective plan for ensuring smooth operation and recovery activities in the event of emergencies and disasters.