

Abstract
Graduation Level of Proficiency Paper
Bachelor's degree

Subject matter: Features of translation training in the field of jurisprudence of students of secondary vocational education (on the basis of English)

Author: Mamonova Veronika Olegovna

Research Supervisor: Associate Professor of Intercultural Communication, Linguodidactics, Pedagogic Technologies of Education. T.N. Yarmina

Research Initiator: Pyatigorsk State University

Information about customer organization: Institute of Foreign Languages and International Tourism

Topical Importance: The relevance of our work is based on the emerging need to modernize the education system in the field of jurisprudence associated with the processes of widespread internationalization of all spheres of human and citizen life, which leads to the need for constant interaction between representatives of different countries. This interaction requires from the specialist we are considering, not only actual knowledge of the language, but also possession of translation competence (of which background knowledge will also be an integral component) for the most effective work with the submitted materials.

Goal: is to study the topic and develop guidelines for the stated problem.

Tasks:

- 1) Investigate the modern requirements for the formation of linguistic competence in teaching foreign languages.
- 2). Identify the features of teaching foreign languages to students of secondary vocational education.
- 3). Analyze the basics of translation in the professional field of jurisprudence.
- 4). Identify the main problems of learning the specifics of the English-language legal translation.
- 5). Develop guidelines for the formation of professional communicative competence of students of secondary vocational education-future specialists in the field of jurisprudence.

Theoretical value lies in the systematization and generalization of the available theoretical material on the research topic.

Practical applicability lies in the creation of methodological recommendations and the possibility of their use in the process of teaching special translation to students of vocational education who study in the specialty «Jurisprudence»

Results: The results of study are interesting and compelling. The conclusions are well-designed, robust and solid.

Implementation advice: The manual developed in the course of executing graduation qualification work can be used in teaching special translation to students of vocational secondary education who study in the specialty of Law and Translation in Law as the main or additional material on the development of professional competence of future specialists.