

Institute / Higher School: Law Institute

Chair: Chair of Constitutional and Municipal Law

Level of study: bachelor's degree

Profile: 40.03.01 - Jurisprudence (state and legal profile)

Year: 2017

The theme of graduation thesis: "Interaction of civil society and the state."

Author: Shadyzhev Zurab Magomedovich

Research supervisor: Dr. Jurid. Sciences, Professor of Department of constitutional and municipal law Tkhabisimova L. A.

Information about customer organization: Pyatigorsk state University.

Topicality of the research: the Problem of formation and development of legal state and civil society is still considered unsolved and insufficiently developed in contemporary political and legal Sciences, while the study period is measured by centuries, and from time to time, it obscures many other problems.

With the proclamation of the Russian Federation of the democratic and legal state was the obvious necessity of development and civil society. After all, such a society is the basis of a legal state.

Today there is a growing influence of ordinary citizens and their public (voluntary) associations in all spheres of society and state. It is obvious that on this background the problems of civil society, its formation and development are of particular relevance.

Objective: to study the concept of civil society to explore the main directions of its formation in modern Russia.

Tasks:

– to explore the historical aspect of the problem of civil society, the Genesis of civil society as a necessary stage of building a legal state in Russia;

– to identify the communication dynamics of civil society and the evolution of the political system; the factors determining the dynamics of civil society;

to investigate the effect of different elements of civil society on the processes of building a civil society in the Russian Federation in General, the stability of the political system of Russia in the conditions of reforms;

to identify the relationship of the evolution of different elements of civil society, of interdependence and of the interdependence of their development;

– to identify the main trends of development of civil society, highlighting priority action society and the state, aimed at development of civil society in Russia.

Theoretical and practical significance of the research work is that the results of the study can contribute to the further development of the theory and practice of interaction between civil society and the state in Russia. The study and its main provisions can be used in courses not only on law but also on other human faculties.

The results of the research: the Conducted analysis revealed that it is necessary to predict the overall prospects for the development of civil society in Russia is quite difficult. However, it seems necessary to implement several of the consolidated actions. Obviously, you must: introduction to the practice of real legal mechanisms through which society can influence the individual institutions of state power and the state as a whole;

Recommendations:

- to limit state intervention in private legal society;
- to increase the influence of civil society on the formation of socio-economic policy of the state through the involvement of the associative groups in the institutions of direct democracy;
- priority of state socio-economic bloc of rights;
- formation of positive legal consciousness and legal culture of society;
- reflection in the Constitution the right to a decent standard of living and its implementation is under the influence of civil society;
- to develop real mechanisms of interaction of associative groups and the state.