

SUMMARY

The subject matter (Subject matter of the dissertation): improving the system of economic security of the commercial Bank (on the example of PJSC "Mail Bank")

Author WRC (Author of the master's dissertation): Tkachev Sophia Arturovna

Research supervisor (Scientific supervisor of the master's dissertation): candidate of economic Sciences, associate Professor, Department of Economics, management and Finance Shevchenko Irina Vladimirovna

Information about customer organization (Customer organisation): Moscow, Preobrazhenskaya Ploshchad, d. 8 PJSC "Bank Mail"

The relevance of the research topic (Topicality of the research): In the fierce competition in the Russian banking sector of the economy every credit institution has to seek to ensure the optimum level of economic security. In existing techniques of calculations of level of economic security of commercial banks is often the definition of this index reduces to the calculation of key financial indicators – liquidity, profitability, financial stability and business activity etc. A significant drawback of such assessments is the lack of control mechanism, including the distribution of commercial Bank money on activities that promote economic security. The vast majority of all studies concerning the economic security of commercial banks dedicated to development of information security systems, or evaluating the financial condition of the Bank. At the same time, research on the topic of integrated assessment of economic security of the commercial Bank and ways of its increase is not enough.

This approach implies the consideration of the main elements of the management system and treats them in aggregate. This is due to the need for a comprehensive system of economic security of the organization, which is a set of interrelated activities whose purpose is to protect economic activity from the real and potential threats.

The purpose (Objective): to develop recommendations for improving the economic security of the commercial Bank and to establish the optimal strategy for the system of economic security at PJSC "Bank Mail".

Objectives (Tasks):

- to study theoretical aspects of economic security of the commercial Bank;
- to carry out the comparative characteristic of approaches to the implementation of the economic security of a commercial Bank in the Russian Federation and foreign countries;
- to perform methods of providing economic security at PJSC "Bank Mail";
- identify deficiencies in the functioning of the mechanisms to ensure economic security;
- to develop recommendations for improving methods of economic security at PJSC "Bank Mail";
- to form the optimal strategy for the system of economic security of the commercial Bank on the example of PJSC "Bank Mail".

Theoretical and practical significance of the research (Theoretical and practical significance of the research): Proposals presented in this work are presented with the possibility of their further use in theoretical and practical activities. The theoretical value is that contained in the idea of improving the system of economic security of a commercial Bank can be used science and practice in determining the solution to the problem of the unreliability of the financial sector of the economy.

Practical value of the WRC is the possible use of the recommendations presented in order to improve the system of economic security of commercial Bank.

The results of the study (Results of the research): In WRC the system of economic security of the commercial Bank, which seeks to link strategic objectives with indicators and indicators reflecting the main processes and results of activity of PJSC "Bank Mail".

The main purpose of the proposed model of the system of economic security of the Bank is taking strategic decisions in the development of the system of economic security. This model is based on the method of allocation of resources and take into account the impact of processes of activity of subjects of protection and the external environment.

Recommendations (Recommendations): the Use of the developed system of economic security of commercial Bank, including the system of economic security of the commercial Bank seeks to link strategic objectives with indicators and indicators reflecting the main processes and results of activity of PJSC "Bank Mail" and the marketplace on the basis of the bank-2-bank for maintaining a system of economic security of the commercial Bank will allow credit institutions to provide long-term successful functioning.