

ABSTRACT

Subject matter: Language for Specific Purposes: problems and solutions.

Author: Demidova Diana Romanovna.

Supervisor of studies: Doctor of Philology, professor, head of the French philology and cross-cultural communication chair Kornienko Alla Alekseevna.

Customer organization data: French philology and cross-cultural communication chair.

Topicality of the research is caused by the fact that nowadays the importance of professional activity of the person significantly increases that leads to heightened interest not just in professional communication in a certain area but in effective communication leading to specific result. So, Language for Specific Purposes research is one of the most perspective directions in modern linguistics and linguodidactics.

Objectives of the research: determination of Language for Specific Purposes characteristics, detection of its features, problems and solutions, discovering of methodical and linguodidactical aspects of Language for Specific Purposes, working out of the methodical database of pedagogical resources.

Tasks of the research:

- To take up different aspects of Language for Specific Purposes.
- To reveal a problematics of French for Specific Purposes and its solution.
- To take up interactions of French for Specific Purposes with the French labor market.
- To reveal methodical and linguo-didactic features when developing courses of French for Specific Purposes.
- To create the database of pedagogical resources of main directions of French for Specific Purposes.

Theoretical and practical significance: research makes a contribution to the description of methodological perspectives of studying Language for Specific Purposes, its results significantly promote studying of French for Specific Purposes and global understanding of this phenomenon, within this research the methodological database of main directions of French for Specific Purposes was created.

Results of the research: the database of pedagogical resources of main directions of French for Specific Purposes was created.

Recommendations: results of the study have a practical importance for researchers of the problem of Language for Specific Purposes, in particular French for Specific Purposes; results of the research can be used in working out of courses of French for Specific Purposes and also in practice of teaching French language as a foreign.